1 Feb 19	A	Shooting	6	0	2	Bague Djaradi, Toumour, Niger	Six civilians were shot dead by Boko Haram terrorists in the village of Bague Djaradi, in Toumour commune, Niger.[10][11] Assailants were on foot. C'est le village de Bagué Djaradi, non loin de la commune de Toumour, qui a été attaqué. Les assaillants, venus des îles du lac Tchad, ont fait irruption en pleine nuit et tué six personnes, dans la nuit de vendredi à samedi. Selon le gouverneur de Diffa, Mahamadou Bakabé, ces victimes ne sont pas innocentes. Il s'agit d'un règlement de comptes entre deux groupes terroristes rivaux de Boko Haram : celui de Abubakar Shekau et celui Abu Musab al-Barnawi. Des rivalités qui se transportent pour la première fois dans la partie nigérienne du lac Tchad. Toujours selon le gouverneur, ce sont les hommes de Shekau qui ont tué les six personnes du village de Bagué. Ces dernières seraient des ravitailleurs d'al-Barnawi, chef du groupe Etat islamique en Afrique de l'Ouest. http://www.rfi.fr/afrique/20190202-niger-reglement-comptes-entre-groupes-rivaux-boko-haram-pres-lac-tchad
